

SALSA Field Report: 13 Nov 2018. Compiled by Matt Siegfried

SALSA Geophysics/SALSA EM, Day 14 Update

- A big day! The first flight of the season dropped cargo on Whillans Ice Stream. A Basler laid a fuel cache (9 55 gallon drums total) for us at Whillans Subglacial Lake. This will greatly reduce our need to shuttle fuel between our two survey sites and let us focus on science rather than logistics.
- Otherwise a slow day of getting ourselves prepped and ready for a flight at any moment, interspersed with hiking and exercise.